INTRODUCTORY.

The matter presented in this Bulletin constitutes the tenth annual edition of the Directory of Labor Organizations in Massachusetts.<sup>1</sup> The first directory of this character was published in August, 1902, the local organizations listed having been classified by industries. As the entire issue was exhausted within a few days a revised edition, with the locals classified by cities and towns, was published in November, 1902. No edition of the directory was issued in 1903, but in 1904 and annually thereafter an edition, following the plan of the revised edition of November, 1902, was published. In 1907 the value of the directory was further enhanced by the inclusion of a list of the National and International Labor Organizations which had affiliated locals in Massachusetts. In the 1910 edition this list was extended so as to include all National and International Organizations having one or more affiliated locals in the United States, whether such organizations were represented in Massachusetts or not.

The present directory follows in general plan that of 1910 and consists of four divisions: (I.) "National and International Organizations," having one or more affiliated local unions in the United States; (II.) "State and District Organizations," consisting of unions, councils, and lodges not confined to one city or town, but embracing a section of the State or several States; (III.) "Local Delegate Organizations," composed of delegates from local unions in the same locality; and (IV.) "Local Organizations," composed of wage-earners in a single locality directly associated in what may be called the "unit" body of organization.

In compiling the present directory various methods of securing information have been used in conjunction with each other. To a card file, consisting of an individual card for each organization included in the directory for 1910, were added additional cards for unions since organized. On these cards careful records have been kept of all changes in meeting places, secretaries, and other information pertinent to the subject. In June of the present year schedules were sent to all of the National and International Unions in the United States requesting a list of their affiliated locals in Massachusetts, together with the names and addresses of the respective local secretaries. Similar schedules were sent to all State and District Organizations and Local Delegate Organizations. By these means, and also by a careful consideration of newspaper clippings relative to labor organizations in the Commonwealth, the Bureau has been able to secure information with reference to the organization of new unions and the disbanding of those formerly existing.

In addition to this work a schedule of questions, to which was attached an explanatory statement with reference to the directory, was mailed to each organization in Massachusetts known to be in existence. It is gratifying to state that the schedules were returned by over 86 per cent of the local organizations addressed. In nearly all of the remaining cases where no returns were received from secretaries of local organizations the desired information was obtained from the secretary of the National or International organization with which the local organization was affiliated.

The Bureau desires to express its appreciation of the ready response to its inquiries accorded by the officials with whom it has had occasion to communicate. As a direct result of the cordial co-operation thus manifested the necessary field work in compiling this edition of the directory has not been very considerable, yet, notwithstanding this fact, the Bureau feels confident that this edition will prove no less complete and accurate than any previously issued.

Owing to the fact that the collection of returns and the preparation and printing of the directory necessarily cover a period of several weeks, some changes have no doubt occurred since the information herein presented was obtained, consequently those who have occasion to consult this directory should bear this fact in mind.

The Bureau would gladly receive any information or suggestion that would add to the value of the next edition of the directory, and local secretaries are urged to send notice of any change in the particulars published herein with reference to the organizations with which they may be connected.

The names of the local delegate bodies, such as central labor unions, trades councils, and district councils, are given in Division III of the directory immediately preceding this division. In every case where the information could be obtained the following facts are given for each union: Name of union, place of meeting, time of meeting, name and address of recording secretary, name and address of business agent, or, lacking these addresses, the name or address of some other officer authorized to conduct correspondence for the local.
